FACULTY/STAFF NEWS:

Kerry Benson presented “Social Media: Communicating Like a Human – Not a Robot” at the KU Edwards campus on Dec. 7 as part of the University’s “Professional Edge” community outreach program.

Terry Bryant welcomed three broadcast professionals to the school to critique J-692 and J-693 students’ final presentations. The guests included J-School alums Nate Hill (News Director, KSNT-TV, Topeka, Kan.) and Julie Kellogg (Executive Producer at KCTV in Kansas City), as well as Gerry Roberts (Former Assistant News Director at KMBC in Kansas City).

Doug Ward’s article on how technology has reshaped etiquette and attention spans was published by PBS MediaShift on Dec. 14. The article, "New Etiquette Needed for Technology In (and Out of) Classrooms," is available at www.pbs.org/mediashift/2011/12/new-etiquette-needed-for-technology-in-and-out-of-classrooms348.html

Simran Sethi is featured in Good Business for her work on sustainability (<http://www.good.is/post/the-green-side-of-business-dodocase-plans-for-the-sustainable-road-ahead/>). She is also featured in the just-released book “Shift and Reset: Strategies for Addressing Serious Issues in a Connected Society” by Brian Reich (Wiley, 2011). Featuring interviews with more than twenty-five experts, authors, and organizational leaders whose experiences and insights provide powerful evidence to support Reich’s important calls to action, the book examines the many ways nonprofits can capitalize on social media to accomplish their mission.

Faculty and graduate students from the School of Journalism are asked to contribute to the new initiative "Droplets of Research." This project, proposed by Mugur Geana, aims to stimulate collegial collaboration as well as being a repository of possible research ideas for graduate students, and to promote research at our school. Participants are requested to share research ideas that they have explored, but not immediately pursued. These preliminary findings should be shared as a short, but rigorous, one-page paper. There is no timetable for them, and everybody is welcome to publish. These "droplets" will be made available in a section of our school website, under the research tab, and their publication will be announced in the Monday Memo. The first "droplet" is provided by Geana: "Exploring the use of Facebook demographics as regional health indicators."

STUDENT NEWS:

Maggie Young, who started the ED2010 KU Chapter this semester (a group for aspiring magazine editors), recently launched her own web magazine, Get Fit Get Life. She will intern at Parents Magazine in New York next semester. To read Young's magazine, visit her site: (<http://getfitgetlife.org/>)

Janene M. Gier has accepted a general assignment reporter position for Kansas First News (KSNT-TV) in Topeka. She begins in January.

ALUMNI NEWS:

Jana Correa, 2007, is one of two remaining contestants in contention for $1.5 million on "O Aprendiz", the Brazilian version of "The Apprentice". "O Aprendiz" is currently in its eighth season. Each season 16-18 candidates are selected to compete for a contract in a company for at least one year. The show follows the same format as "The Apprentice", with contestants dividing into teams and performing a series of tasks involving marketing, real estate, promotions, sales, finance, charitable activities, advertising and business management. Correa, a Macapa, Brazil native, was a marketing major and played volleyball for the University of Kansas from 2003 – 2006, appearing in three NCAA tournament runs.

FACULTY / STAFF/STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES:

The Walter J. Travis Society, Inc awards- The Walter J. Travis Memorial Scholarship in recognition of the remarkable accomplishments and contributions of Walter J. Travis in the game of golf. In his pioneering career, he was a champion amateur golfer, esteemed golf course architect, innovative turf grass expert, and prolific golf journalist. Travis was founder and editor of one of the most influential golf magazines of his time, The American Golfer. We encourage applicants to learn more about the man in whose honor this scholarship has been established.

The Marine Corps Heritage Foundation is now accepting submissions for its annual awards program. Each year, the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation presents a series of awards honoring the outstanding, creative work of individuals in preserving and propagating the history, traditions and culture of the Marine Corps. Marines and civilians alike may submit their own entries or the distinguished work of others for consideration. Awards will be presented at the Foundation's annual ceremony on April 21, 2012. Submissions deadline is December 31, 2011. For a detailed list of the awards as well as the submission requirements, please visit: <http://www.marineheritage.org/Awards.asp>.

“FOR PRESS FREEDOM” CONTEST: Reporters Without Borders and CNN video contest. Students should create high-quality, effective video PSA up to 50 seconds that seeks to answer the question “Why should we care about freedom of information?” One winning video will air on CNN on World Press Freedom Day (May 3, 2012), selected by an international jury of human rights leaders and media professionals. Students also have the option of representing their schools by adding their school's name and logo to the PSA with permission of an authorized University.
