

JOUR 608 - Ethics and Professional Practice

Spring 2019 Syllabus

9:30 - 10:45 am Tuesday and Thursday

Stauffer-Flint Hall Room 202

Instructor: Associate Professor Mike Williams

Email: mikewms@ku.edu

Work Phone: 785 864 7638

Office Location: 2064 Dole Humanities Center

1000 Sunnyside Ave. Lawrence Main Campus

Office Hours: 10 am - Noon, Monday and Wednesday, or by appointment.

Please call my office to be sure I am available.

Personal Link <http://www.mikewms.com>

Course Introduction

The American news media has seldom been held in lower esteem by the public. This partly comes from a sense that professional standards have dropped. The digital age, where publishing and broadcasting information have proliferated far beyond daily newspapers and radio and television stations, only complicates these dynamics of mistrust. Corrupted information and half-truths seem to be everywhere, many citizens sense, and news media outlets — like almost all large institutions in today's society — face increasing skepticism.

A crucial question, then, looms for those studying journalism and training to become reporters and editors, and professional communicators: What distinguishes the professional journalist's approach to information amid vast other digital streams of videos, photos, data and text? In large part, the answer must be the highest of ethical standards and a commitment to the uncorrupted pursuit of truth based on verifiable facts and knowledge.

We stand at a moment when the journalistic ethical codes that American society has known for decades are now under tremendous pressure, as the underlying business model continues to erode, news and information are increasingly consumed in personalized ways on commercial platforms, and every journalistic story must compete for attention amid an overwhelming sea of what is generically being called "content."

Meanwhile, the number of U.S. editorial workers has been nearly cut in half over the past few decades; there are now about four public relations persons for every journalist. Preserving an ethical core and seeking to improve upon the checkered past of reporting, is no sure or easy thing for a profession that has never required a license to practice.

This syllabus presents ideas, materials, case studies and readings that speak to this moment of change.

Course objectives

- Learn the core ethical principles that have defined the very best media professionalism.
- Know the chief ethical challenges and salient failures journalism has seen in the past.
- Develop a sharp awareness of how digital technology and increased two-way engagement with audiences are changing the nature of journalistic ethical decision-making and challenging it in new ways.
- Create a language for ethical reasoning and the capacity to apply important principles to concrete reporting situations of all kinds, both old and new.
- Learn the newsgathering rights afforded to journalists as well as the laws that both protect and constrain journalistic practice.

Learning Activities

- Critically analyze philosophies, models, cases and ethics codes.
- Recognize ethical issues, problems and dilemmas in all facets of communications.
- Use models effectively to resolve ethical dilemmas.
- Think critically and clearly in applying models to case studies and current events.
- Clearly and creatively present case studies and debates.
- Ground yourself in American media standards and practices.
- Participate in class and group activities.

Course design

This course will acquaint students with important ethical principles and professional norms that they can employ in the practice of reporting. Students will develop their knowledge of theories and frameworks, gain knowledge of important journalistic failures and mistakes, as well as emerging areas of professional challenge, and learn how to apply this knowledge during reporting, publication and audience engagement processes. The course is designed to build toward a final project in which students demonstrate a thorough grasp of ethics issues in journalism.

Course materials

Class materials include general texts that supply a theoretical framework, book chapters, and print or online readings that apply to class topics, and films. You will be guided to relevant articles and may be asked to do your own research.

Readings

We will have one required text - Kelly McBride, Tom Rosenstiel, The New Ethics of Journalism, 2014. Additional readings may be assigned from some or all of these additional resources. In most cases, specific links will be provided to materials so you will not need to purchase these texts.

- Gene Foreman, The Ethical Journalist: Making Responsible Decisions in the Digital Age, Second Edition, 2015.
- Thomas E. Patterson, Informing the News: The Need for Knowledge-based Journalism, 2013.
- Sue Ellen Christian, Overcoming Bias: A Journalist's Guide to Culture and Context, 2011.
- Alex S. Jones, Losing the News: The Future of the News That Feeds Democracy, 2009.
- Patrick Lee Plaisance, Media Ethics: Key Principles for Responsible Practice, 2009.
- Dale Jacquette, Journalistic Ethics: Moral Responsibility in the Media, 2007.
- David Craig, The Ethics of the Story: Using Narrative Techniques Responsibly in Journalism, 2006.
- Seth Mnookin, Hard News: The Scandals at The New York Times and their Meaning for American Media, 2004.
- Janet Malcolm, The Journalist and the Murderer, 1990.

Online resources

- Society of Professional Journalists & SPJ Ethics Committee
- Digital Media Law Project Legal Guide, Harvard University
- The Poynter Institute
- Columbia Journalism Review
- Build Your Own Ethics Code, ONA Ethics
- Codes of Ethics Database, Accountable Journalism
- Digital Journalist's Legal Guide, Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press
- Nieman Reports, Harvard University
- Markkula Center for Applied Ethics, Santa Clara University
- Center for Journalism Ethics, University of Wisconsin-Madison
- Ethical Journalism Network (EJN)
- Knight Case Studies Initiative, Columbia University

Films

Ethical situations are at the heart of some of the best cinema of the past decades. Twice during the semester, you will be asked to view a film and write a reaction blog to share with your peers.

Additional films will be added to this list to provide a range of topics, themes and messages for students in the class, regardless of major or media specialization.

- "Spotlight," 2015 (Open Road Films)
- "Citizenfour," 2014 (Praxis Films et al.)
- "Kill the Messenger," 2014 (Bluegrass Films et al.)
- "Frost/Nixon," 2008 (Universal Pictures et al.)
- "Page One," 2011 (Participant Media et al.)
- "Good Night and Good Luck," 2005 (Warner Bros. et al)
- "Shattered Glass," 2003 (Lions Gate et al.)
- "Broadcast News," 1987 (Amercent Films et al.)
- "The Killing Fields," 1984 (Goldcrest Films et al)
- "Absence of Malice," 1981 (Columbia Pictures)
- "All the President's Men," 1976 (Warner Bros. et al)
- "Wag the Dog", 1997 (New Line Cinema et al)
- "What Women Want" 2000 (Paramount Pictures et)
- "Thank You For Smoking" 2005 (Room 9 Entertainment et al)
- "The Jonses" 2009 (Echo Lake Entertainment et al)
- "The Greatest Movie Ever Sold" 2011 (Sony Pictures et al)
- "Merchants of Doubt" 2014 (Sony Pictures et al)
- "The Corporation" 2003 (Big Picture Media Corp. et al)
- "How to Get Ahead in Advertising" 1989 (HandMade Films et al)

Policies and Procedures

You are responsible for your own level of learning and participation in this class. That means if you do not understand any course material, assignments or readings, it is your responsibility to bring your questions to the attention of the instructor. I can't help you if you don't let me know you need help. You each have valuable ideas to contribute to the learning process. You should always feel free to ask questions or add your comments to the course discussions.

Diversity of ideas and attitudes

Because this course is about the ways people make decisions, share ideas, and how differences of opinion may affect the truthfulness of their statements, some of our conversations and course materials may not meet the same standards of taste, political allegiances, or other attitudes you personally hold. But because of their place in the examination of ethical standards and practices, all points of view deserve attention. You are encouraged and expected, to actively participate in our discussion of all ideas expressed in the class and should feel free to share your feelings about them.

Likewise, you should be tolerant of the attitudes and opinions of others, giving them the same courtesy of free expression you would expect for yourself. We will only learn from each other if we are all willing to listen to and appreciate the opinions and ideas of others.

If you feel offended, or otherwise threatened by the comments of anyone in this class, please let the instructor know as soon as possible so the situation can be addressed.

Participation and attendance

Your attendance at each class meeting is required!

If you anticipate a valid absence, you must notify me by email, preferably BEFORE the class meeting. Be sure to put "JOUR608 ABSENCE" in the subject line of the email message.

You may call my cell number 410 818-4227 at any time before 10 p.m. to inform me of a pending absence or for other course-related matters that can't be handled through email or in person. If I don't answer, please leave a message.

Do not assume you will be allowed to make up assignments missed during an unexcused absence.

You are expected to view the videos posted as well as read the listed chapters and linked material by the date indicated on the course schedule. Traffic data on the video site is recorded. A failure to attend to this course material will seriously hurt your learning in the course and have a negative impact on your discussions.

You will not receive full value for the attendance and participation grade element if you have any unexcused absences.

Technology Access

You will be required to have access to all technology required for viewing on line lectures, for completion of assignments, and participation in on line discussions. This class requires the use of computers capable of running, up-to-date web browsers. Firefox, Chrome or Safari are recommended for all class work. Broadband access to the internet is assumed and required.

KU Libraries and the School of Journalism provide computer labs and facilities for course work. You should make yourself familiar with the location and availability of those computer facilities.

Not having adequate access to the required technology is not an excuse for missing deadlines or poor work. If you are unable to provide your own computing technology, you will need to find a public source, or drop the course.

Mobile Technology

It is permissible in this class to take notes using electronic equipment and to use laptops and tablets for research directly related to the content of that day's lecture.

The temptation to use smart phones during class is often great, but there will be very few occasions where this will be acceptable. You will gain the most from this course by maintaining full attention to our classroom activities and NOT your phone. You should turn off and put away your phones as class begins. If this is your preferred method of taking notes, you must let me know before each class.

Using electronic equipment for other purposes during class (e.g. texting friends, doing puzzles, buying anything, watching cat videos) is rude and unprofessional. If I see it, you will be warned and may be asked to leave class. Repeated offenses will have a negative impact on your attendance grade component.

KU Blackboard

The majority of materials for this course will be accessed via using Blackboard. If you are not familiar with its operation, please let me know.

Deadlines

This course has frequent deadlines throughout the term!

All course work must be completed by assigned deadlines. Any work submitted after the assignment deadline will receive a grade deduction of 10 percent per day, unless a deadline extension is granted by the professor PRIOR to the original deadline.

Do not plan to submit everything on the last day. A grade of INCOMPLETE will be assigned only in accordance with University of Kansas policy.

NOTICE !!! All course work must be completed in assigned sequence. Assignments will not be accepted out of sequence.

If this is not possible due to serious illness, you are expected to inform me of the reason for your absence as soon as possible. I will be happy to work with you to make up work missed during an excused absence.

Journalism School Policy on Classroom Attendance

No student may add a journalism class after the 20th day of a semester.

Students must attend their classes and laboratory periods. Instructors may take attendance into account in assessing a student's performance and may require a certain level of attendance for passing a course. Instructors may choose to drop students from a course, based on attendance, without consent.

The School of Journalism reserves the right to cancel the enrollment of students who fail to attend the first class or laboratory meeting.

Financial Aid Policy

The KU Office of Student Financial Aid is required by federal law to determine whether students who receive aid are attending each class in which they are enrolled. Instructors are required to report to that office absences of students who have stopped attending and names of those who have enrolled but never have attended. Students who do not attend classes may be required to repay federal and/or state financial aid."

Students who receive any form of financial aid should learn all requirements including minimum hours of enrollment and grades to qualify for and retain that aid. You are bound by the university rules on academic misconduct. If you have any questions about what constitutes cheating, please ask BEFORE your endeavor.

Originality

You will always be expected to use your own imagination, images, and information. The highest levels of ethical conduct and integrity expected of working professionals apply to you in this course. Please review the relevant policies as shown below under the Learn More label. You will always be expected to use your own imagination, images, and information. Assignments completed with material from copyrighted sources will require appropriate attribution and/or permission for use.

J-School Policy on Plagiarism and Fabrication/Falsification – Adopted May 7, 2004

The William Allen White School of Journalism and Mass Communications does not tolerate plagiarism, fabrication of evidence and falsification of evidence.

Penalties for plagiarism, fabrication or falsification can include a failing grade for this course and expulsion from the School of Journalism and Mass Communications. If you have any questions about what constitutes plagiarism, fabrication or falsification, please consult the professor(s) of this course.

The following definitions are from Article II, Section 6, of the University Senate Rules and Regulations, revised FY98.

Plagiarism – Knowingly presenting the work of another as one’s own (i.e., without proper recognition of the source). The sole exception to the requirement of acknowledging sources is when the information or ideas are common knowledge.

Fabrication and Falsification – Unauthorized alteration or invention of any information or citation in an academic exercise

Required Textbook

The New Ethics of Journalism: Principles for the 21st Century

by Kelly McBride, Tom Rosenstiel

Copyright © 2014 CQ Press - An Imprint of SAGE Publications, Inc.

ISBN-13: 978-1604265613

ISBN-10: 9781604265613

Available in paperback and digital. Check KU Bookstore for pricing options

Additional Resources

- Link to Diversity and Equity website: <http://www.diversity.ku.edu/>
- Link to IOA website: <http://www.ioa.ku.edu>
- Links—AAAC website: <http://www.achievement.ku.edu>
- Link to Student Handbook: <http://www.disability.ku.edu/~disability/handbook/>
- Link to the Office for Civil Rights’ Reading Room that provides comprehensive links to publications pertaining to anti-discrimination: <http://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/publications.html>

Grading

Your grade for this course will be calculated on the total of your scores on specific assignments weighted as shown in the graphic at right. This will include a score for attendance and participation. Blogs - 30% of course grade (6 at 5% each)

The blog assignments will align with topics discussed, readings, or viewing of videos or movies. A blog posting in Blackboard will be due approximately every other week. The specific details of each blog assignment will be shared in class and posted in the Assignments tab in the Blackboard sidebar.

Midterm - 20% of course grade

A written midterm exam covering material presented or assigned during the first seven weeks of the term will be taken prior to spring break.

Professional Code - 15% of course grade

You will compose a personal code of ethics and share with the class as a posting to Blackboard. Specific details for this assignment will be presented prior to spring break.

Final Group Project - 20% of course grade

The final assignment for this course will be an in-depth review of a significant professional incident in which ethical decision making was required. This will be a group project, with specific expectations for each team member. The group will present their findings to the class during the final week of the semester. Each team member will also produce a written report detailing their specific activities as part of the group, how their personal code of ethics was used to evaluate the case being studied, and how they would have personally responded to the situation being studied. This written report will be included with a final version of the group effort and submitted by 10 am, Wed. 5/15 - the classes final exam period.

Attendance and Participation - 15% of course grade

Attendance is required at every class meeting and your active, vocal and attentive participation is expected. During the early part of the term, course discussions will be informal. During the last half of the semester, you will work with partners to present short in-class discussions about the topic of the week. The format and assessment process for these activities will be discussed in class before spring break.

Special learning needs

The University of Kansas is committed to helping all students learn. If you have a special need that may affect your learning, please contact me as soon as possible. Please be aware that the KU Office of Disability Resources coordinates accommodations and services for all students who are eligible.

If you have a disability for which you wish to request accommodations and have not contacted this office, please do so as soon as possible. Information about services can be found at <http://www.disability.ku.edu/~disability/>. Or you can visit the office on the first floor of Strong Hall. The phone number is: 785-864-2620. Please contact me privately regarding your needs in this course.

JOUR 608 Grading Weights

Inclement weather

In the event of inclement weather, the decision to cancel classes is made by KU officials. To determine whether snow or icy conditions have canceled classes, call 864-7669 (864-SNOW). Because this class is completely on line, this will only affect deadlines scheduled for days when the campus is closed. If such instance occurs, I will notify the class by email to revise the deadline.

Copying or sharing course materials

Course materials prepared by the instructor, as well as content of all lectures presented by the instructor, are the instructor's property. Sharing of video and audio recordings of lectures without instructor consent is prohibited. Unless the instructor gives explicit permission, recordings of lectures may not be modified and must not be transferred or transmitted to any other person, whether or not that individual is enrolled in the course.

Email

All students are REQUIRED to regularly check their KU (name@ku.edu) email account.

Class information will be frequently sent to this account. If you use another account, please be sure your KU account is set to forward email to that non-KU account. I will not attempt to chase you to email accounts other than your official KU email.

I have my email program set to filter JOUR 608 messages to a priority folder. When sending email to me, please always put "JOUR 608 – your topic here " in the subject line.

I will make every effort to reply to your email as quickly as possible within 24-hours of its receipt. Do not expect immediate replies to emails after 10 p.m. or before 9 a.m.

You may communicate by email with me about anything related to the course except grade revisions. I will not discuss anything related to grade changes online. If you want to discuss a review of a graded assignment or test, you may arrange an office appointment with me.

Vacations, Travel, etc.

You are expected to participate in each scheduled class day of the course. Because travel may be part of your plans for Spring Break be sure it does not cause you to miss class activities. Leaving early for or arriving late from these breaks is not a valid excuse for missing assigned coursework or class.

under the constant control of the individual. Students who choose to carry a concealed handgun in a purse, backpack, or bag must review and plan each day accordingly, and are responsible for making alternate arrangements as necessary. The University does not provide appropriate secure storage for concealed handguns.

Individuals who violate the KU weapons policy may be asked to leave campus with the weapon and may face disciplinary action under the appropriate university code of conduct.

Class Schedule

The schedule below provides the weekly topics to be presented during the semester. This schedule is subject to revision as course progress dictates. Any changes in assignment deadlines will be announced in class and online. A schedule of daily activities will be published on the class Blackboard site. It will include deadlines for assignments and additional information.

Weekly Topics

WEEK	FOCUS
1	Ethics of Trust
2	Language of Ethical Thinking and Practice
3	Canonical Ethics Cases
4	Seeking Truth: Skepticism, Plausibility and Purpose
5	Rights, responsibilities, boundaries, privacy, and the right to know
6	Images that lie – photos, graphics, video, data
7	Discuss Assignments: Group Project and Personal Code	MIDTERM EXAM
8	Spring Break March 11 – 18
9	Ethical cases in News and Information
10	Ethical cases in Strategic Communications
11	Ethical cases in social media
12	Gathering and sharing information
13	Sensationalism vs speed
14	Spin, crisis management, distraction
15	Group Project Production and Review
16	Group Project Presentations	